

ABSTRACT:

A device for sensing the degree of flexing in a tire. When the flexing of a tire due to low air pressure has reached a dangerous point, this device will warn the driver that this tire requires immediate attention. The driver will then add make up air or if the tire is damaged the driver will replace it.